During the day [Redacted] seemed very angry and easily upset however would cool down when chatted to. At 2pm, he didn't have a tick beside his name so I reminded him how we get ticks. He then lost his temper, broke a pencil with his head, ripped his books to pieces. I ignored this and immediately asked for assistance - a teacher came and took my class while I talked to him. Then He then told me his mother is on hunger strike, refuses to eat and he can't sleep or think as his mother is so upset. He said she cries all day and refuses to hug him. He is dreaming of blood and death and zombies and is pacing at 2am in the morning and needs his mother. (this is what he told me)
Action Taken	Contacted case manager [Redacted] also spoke to Senior teacher.
